

ABSTRACT

An electronic package with a passive component includes a circuit carrier, at least a passive component and an anisotropic conductive layer. The circuit carrier has at least a passive-component-pad set including multiple pads. The passive component has multiple electrodes placed over the corresponding pads of the passive-component-pad set. The anisotropic conductive layer is deposited between the electrodes and the pads.